Chef Roy Yamaguchi Hosts ALOHA KITCHEN CHALLENGE

On September 25th at Roy's in Baltimore

Students from Howard County Community College: Hospitality & Culinary Arts Program pair up with top local chefs to win prestigious internship

Baltimore, Maryland, September 2008 – Internationally acclaimed Chef Roy Yamaguchi has expanded his Baltimore 20th Anniversary Culinary Tour dinner to include the “Aloha Kitchen Challenge.” The gourmet competition pairs three culinary students with top local celebrity chefs, Tim Mullen, executive chef of Marriott Waterfront; Spike Gjerde, chef/owner of the Woodberry Kitchen; and Ted Stelzenmuller, chef/owner of Jack's Bistro, to compete for the chance to win a prestigious internship with a master Roy's chef. Reagan Warfield, host of the “Jojo, Reagan and the Mix Morning Show”; Warren Brown, host of the Food Network's “Sugar Rush” and owner of CakeLove and Love Café; and Duff Goldman, host of the Food Network's “Ace of Cakes” and owner of Charm City Cakes, are a few of the judges on the panel for the challenge.

The partnering chef teams will be asked to create an exceptional entrée in the spirit of Roy's signature Hawaiian Fusion[®] Cuisine. Guests will enjoy the one-of-a-kind experience of interacting with prominent chefs while indulging in the five-course dinner— which will include two courses by Chef Roy and Roy's Chef Partner Rey Eugenio, and one entrée from each competing team. Judges will rate each team's creation on taste, presentation, and individuality, and will award the winning duo's student an internship with Roy's highly-trained expert chefs.

“Teaching and mentoring aspiring chefs has always been a passion of mine,” said Chef Roy. “I am excited to be working with this talented group of great chefs, as we contribute to the culinary community by cultivating new talent with a challenging and rewarding internship.”

The Aloha Kitchen Challenge five-course dinner begins at 5:00 p.m. and is $100 per person. Reservations are required and can be made by calling Roy's in Baltimore at 410/659-0099. The restaurant is located at 720 B Aliceanna Street.
